George school board member upset with board appointment

Derrick Scott appointed to replace Wozencraft

By DONNA COLLINS
 George County Bureau

LUCEDALE — A disgruntled George County School Board member accused his fellow board members of ignoring a political tradition to rush an appointment while he was out of town.

Tim Welford was not present at a recent meeting in which Derrick Scott, a nurse anesthetist at George County Hospital, by a 2-1 vote, was accepted to replace the late Tom Wozencraft on the school board. Stephen Maples made the motion for Scott and Anthony Christian seconded his motion. Wendell Fallon voted no since Welford was not at the meeting.

Wozencraft, who died Sept. 19, was in his 13th year on the school board. Scott will fill in for Wozencraft until an election can be held in November 2002 to finish the remaining two years of Wozencraft's term.

Welford, who was in Michigan at the time of the vote, had called the district office that morning and was told there was nothing about Wozencraft's replacement on the agenda. Welford questioned Maples and Christian Monday night as to why they rushed ahead with a vote without him there. "If this board waited on you to be at a board meeting we'd never get to vote," Maples said.

"We had 50 or 60 days by law to do this and it had to be done on a day I couldn't be there?" Welford asked. "We not only trampled on the wishes of a former school board member, we also trampled on the wishes of the widow by not even having the courtesy to contact her."

Welford said it's traditional to offer the position of a deceased board member to the spouse. Brenda Wozencraft said in a prepared statement that she had never been offered the position.

"I am not emotionally stable enough to appear before this body due to the recent shattering of my world because of the death of my husband, Tom Wozencraft," she wrote.

She said her husband's last wishes were that she serve in his place until a

Guilty plea expected in teen's death

Jonathon May expected to plead guilty to manslaughter

By JOHN SURRATT
 Mississippi Press Staff

PASCAGOULA — A Jackson County man is expected to plead guilty to manslaughter for his part in the 1999 death of a teen-ager, according to county authorities.

Assistant District Attorney Ben Saucier said Monday that Jonathon May will be allowed to enter the guilty plea in the death of Dong Phong "Tommy" Nguyen, whose body was found in a shallow grave in the Vanclave area in early January 2000.

Authorities said Nguyen was killed in September 1999. Saucier said May is expected to be sentenced to 20 years in prison with no possibility for parole or early release. A date has not been set for the plea.

The announcement came as jury selection began Monday in the capital murder trial of Christopher Roy, who is also charged in Nguyen's death. Saucier said he expects May to testify for the state in the case. He added no deal had been made with May.

May was initially charged with capital murder, but Saucier said he was allowed to plea to the lesser charge after authorities talked with Nguyen's parents.

"Because his confession helped solve the case and he helped police locate the body, the family felt that he allowed them to have some finality to this," Saucier said. "Also, his involvement in the death was not as great as we previously had thought."

May confessed to his part in Nguyen's death during a Jan. 5, 2000, interview with police officers, and later took them to Nguyen's grave.

His attorneys during a March 29 hearing attempted to have his statements suppressed, claiming they were coerced by police.

Circuit Judge Dale Harkey, however, ruled that May gave his statement voluntarily to police and that he was neither coerced nor intimidated.

Attorneys for Roy recently sought to have his statement to authorities about Nguyen's death disqualified for his trial, claiming the deputy who heard the statement did not get Roy to sign a waiver of his rights.

Harkey denied the defense motion, ruling that Roy volunteered the statement and initiated the conversation about the case.

THE BOTTOM LINE...

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — An American restaurateur is mixing his faith and patriotism and wearing it for all the world to see: A red, white and blue turban sent by his mother in India.

"To many people, "the turban represents something not American, something Middle Eastern," says Narendra Singh Kloty, a Sikh. "I'm trying to tell people, 'No, this is very American. Red, white and blue.' That's what I'm trying to do without saying anything."

Kloty said his mother was concerned for his safety after people began associating turbans with Muslim extremists. He said he asked her to send him a red, white and blue turban from Bombay, India, after a few people made rude gestures as he drove in his car.
